ICELAND

Iceland does not maintain any discriminatory restrictions against imports from Poland.

INDIA

Trade between Poland and India is governed by the Trade and Payments Agreement concluded between the two countries. The current Agreement is valid up to 31 December 1977. Since the trade is conducted on the basis of trade plans drawn up every year by mutual agreement, there is no question of restrictions being unilaterally imposed by India on imports from Poland.

India does not maintain any separate customs tariff for imports from Poland and no discrimination against Poland exists in the application of the Indian Customs Tariff.
