GENERALIZED SYSTEM OF PREFERENCES

Notification by Japan

In a communication dated 26 October 1993, the Permanent Mission of Japan has transmitted the following information on a forthcoming improvement in the Rules of Origin of Japan's Generalized System of Preferences scheme.

Improvement in the Rules of Origin of Japan's GSP

1. Under the present rules of origin of Japan's GSP, "Articles of apparel and clothing accessories, not knitted or crotched", coming under HS Chapter 62 have been considered as originating from a GSP beneficiary and as thus eligible for GSP, only in the case that they are manufactured from textile yarn within the beneficiary. In other words, eligible for GSP are only the articles whose two stages of manufacturing process, namely, from textile yarn to fabrics and from fabrics to apparel, are both made within the beneficiary.

2. The amendment of the rules of origin this time relaxes the rule in a way that the articles falling under HS Chapter 62 are eligible for GSP even in the case that they are manufactured from fabrics within a beneficiary.

But there are some exceptions to the new rule, which are still under the previous conditions. "Handkerchiefs" of HS heading No. 62.13 and "Shawls etc." of No. 62.14 have to be manufactured from material of fibre (chemical products etc.), and "Ties etc." of No. 62.15, "Gloves etc." of No. 62.16 and "Other made up clothing accessories etc." of No. 62.17 have to be manufactured from textile yarn within a beneficiary.

3. This amendment has been made to respond to the development of international specialization in textile industry. It is expected to increase the number of cases where textile products exported to Japan from developing countries would be considered GSP-eligible.

4. This amendment comes into effect after 1 November 1993.
