DERESTRICTION OF ANALYTICAL INDEX

The sixth edition of the Analytical Index of the GATT has now been circulated to contracting parties. This document was made available in draft form last year (Spec(93)31) and the final text takes into account comments received. It is proposed that this document be derestricted except to the extent that contracting parties notify the Secretariat before 1 March 1994 that they wish restricted material contained therein to remain restricted.

It should be noted that all previous editions of the Analytical Index have been derestricted. Unlike previous editions the sixth edition does not include any quotations from panel reports that have not been adopted, except for panel reports that have been derestricted, or material that was already included in the 1989 edition of the Index and has therefore already been derestricted. However, the Index does contain some quotations from restricted documents that are routinely derestricted, in particular material from Council minutes (C/M/247 onwards) and Session summary records (SR.47 onwards). Contracting parties who wish to check the references relating to a particular subject matter or a particular dispute can do so by using the subject index at pages 1059 through 1080 of this document. Document references relating to a particular contracting party will be provided upon request by the Legal Affairs Division (739-5444).
