

Alan Beattie is a senior trade writer at the Financial Times, based in Brussels, and writes for Trade Secrets, the FT's newsletter and opinion column on trade and globalisation. Alan joined the FT in 1998 after working as an economist at the Bank of England. Before moving to Brussels in 2016 he was the FT's international economy editor, covering global trade and economics from London and Washington, including the World Trade Organization, the International Monetary Fund, the G8 and the G20. He has also worked as a editorial writer.

He is the author of "False Economy", a popular economic history of the world published by Penguin, and "Who's In Charge Here?", a critique of policymakers' responses to the 2008 global economic crisis.