One must learn by doing the thing; for though you think you know it, you have no certainty until you try.

Course description:

The ATPC, a Level 3 training activity implemented within the WTO progressive learning framework, represents the highest level of learning among WTO training activities.

The course is targeted at government officials who are directly involved in WTO-related work and who already possess a sound knowledge of the general features of the WTO system and the WTO Agreements. Due to the applied nature of the ATPC, participants are expected to be actively involved throughout the course to further consolidate their knowledge and develop new skills through practice and case-based learning.

The purpose of the ATPC is to develop participants’ autonomy in conducting WTO-related work by: (i) encouraging critical thinking to explore the linkages between WTO rules and disciplines and countries’ trade policies and interests in the multilateral trading system; and (ii) enhancing analytical and negotiating skills to engage in trade policy formulation and implementation, monitoring and surveillance, WTO negotiations or dispute settlement.

Both legal and economic aspects of WTO rules and disciplines will be examined in a series of interactive sessions focusing on case studies, simulations and exercises, including hands-on use of WTO databases and analytical tools available online. Roundtable discussions will provide a platform for practical exchanges, sharing of experiences and best practices as well as debating present-day trade topics. Participants will be given individual/group assignments and are also expected to prepare and deliver a brief presentation relating to a trade policy topic by the end of the two-month course.

The course also includes visits to other international organizations active in trade-related matters as well as attendance at selected meetings of WTO bodies and briefings on WTO work-in-progress. Contacts with WTO Secretariat officials and delegates and representatives from Missions and other international organizations are also a common feature.

Analysis and Implementation of trade instruments and policies

Objectives

At the end of the module, participants are expected to have:

- Understood what a tariff is from a policy, legal and economic viewpoint and be able to differentiate it from other charges which may be charged at customs.
- Developed capacity to autonomously read a WTO Schedule of concessions and understand the requirements for modifying tariff concessions.
- Understood how an import licence is defined in the WTO and become familiar with WTO rules and transparency requirements regulating such instruments.
- Understood how WTO agreements define “quantitative restrictions” and what is the economic impact of new restrictions; and become familiar with WTO rules and notification obligations related to such instruments.
- Developed the ability to critically assess the various impacts that the introduction of trade barriers could have (tariff increases, quotas, licences, etc.).
- Gained understanding of the Agreement on Trade Facilitation and how to access resources about the TFA (TFA Facility Website) and its implementation (TFA Database).
- Understood the objectives and structure of the ITA (plurilateral, selective scope).
- Been able to critically assess the benefits of the ITA since its adoption and discuss the possible benefits for their countries of joining the agreement.
- Received briefing on the Nairobi Ministerial Declaration on the Expansion of Trade in IT Products.
- Acquired skills in using the Market Access databases as source of information for tariff and trade negotiations and trade policy analysis and in interpreting the statistics available in the online tools and their trade implications.
- Gained understanding of several search tools offered by the I-TIP as well as data limitations, and used simplified paths in the I-TIP application.
- Become familiar with a new WTO Data portal.

- Become familiar with the most common sources for international trade statistics.
- Built capacity to extract, manipulate and analyse statistical trade data.
- Built knowledge on ex-ante analysis of trade policy changes.

- Analysed trade flows and international markets using ITC’s Trade Map.
- Analysed tariffs and other market requirements in order to identify markets with favourable market access conditions using ITC’s Market Access Map.
- Prepared for trade negotiations by simulating tariff reduction scenarios using ITC’s Market Access Map.
