Trademarks Protection

Article 19:

The trademarks shall be protected [supported] from the date of the submission of the application to the Central Business Registry (Trademarks Registration Section).

Validity Period of Trademarks Registration

Article 20:

1. ~~The validity of a registered trademark is 10 years, and this period can be renewed an indefinite number of times upon the request of the owner of a trademark. A registered trademark shall be valid for a period of ten (10) years, which may, upon request by the owner, be extended for successive 10-year periods.~~
2. The owner of the trademark shall be obligated to submit his/her application for renewal to the Central Business Registry (Trademarks Registration Section), within six months prior to expiry of the period set forth in paragraph (1) of this Article.
3. The owner of the trademark cannot, during the course of renewal, bring changes in the registered trademark or in the list of goods, products or services for which the trademark has already been registered.

Ownership of the Trademark

Article 21:

The ownership of a trademark belongs to the person that used it for the first time, unless proven otherwise by a court.

Termination of Ownership of the Trademark

Article 22:

The right to ownership of the trademark shall terminate in the following cases:

1. Cessation of trade, industry, agriculture and services, which may relate to ownership of specific trademarks.
2. Sale or other transfers of the right of ownership to a third party in accordance with provisions of law.

3. Failure to apply for renewal of the trademark registration right within six months of expiration of the registration in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (2) of Article (20) of this Law.
4. ~~When registration is formally cancelled by the commercial court based on a petition by an interested party and on a showing of at least three uninterrupted years of non-use of the mark by the owner. No cancellation on these grounds may take place if the mark owner shows valid reasons for non-use, including circumstances arising independently of the will of the owner, such as import restrictions or services associated with the mark. Use of mark by another person but subject to the owner's control shall be recognized as use of the mark for the purpose of maintaining the registration. Where it is proved that the trademark has not been used for three consecutive years, the relevant commercial court may, on the request of interested person, issue order concerning termination thereof, unless the owner of the trademark (the first person) provides justification for the non-use thereof within the specified period of time. In such circumstances, the trademark shall be registered taking into account the provisions of this Law.~~
5. Issuance of ownership termination order by an authorized court.

Production and Supply in Famous Geographical Area

Article 23:

1. Where the name of a famous geographical area has been registered as part of the trademark, the owner thereof shall be obligated to manufacture goods and products or render services in the same geographical area.
2. Natural or legal persons cannot, by use of various means, introduce or designate any goods, products and services in a manner contrary to the factual relevant geographical area in order to mislead the public.
3. Natural or legal persons who embark on manufacturing goods, products or rendering of services in the well-known geographical area cannot use the geographical symbol in respect of similar goods, products or services being manufactured or delivered in other areas in such a manner as to show as if the said goods, products or services have been manufactured and rendered in the well-known geographical area.

Use of Famous Names

Article 24:

Natural or legal persons may use such geographic indications and names as are used in commercial terminology to describe relevant goods, products or services unless such common geographic indications are found to be misleading according to the provision set forth under Article (31) of this law.

Chapter 3 Objections

The Right to Object

Article 25:

The following persons may object in relation to a trademark that has been applied for or registered already:

1. A person who claims the ownership of the trademark.
2. A person who has a similar trademark that can cause mistakes among the customers.
- ~~2-3.~~ Any interested party may file an objection based on Articles 8 or 9 of this Law to a trademark which has been requested or registered.

How to Object

Article 26:

1. Interested persons or their legal representatives may submit their objections in writing or through the registered post to the Central Business Registry (Trademarks Registration Section) in relation to trademark registration within (30) days of the publication thereof in the official gazette.
2. The Central Business Registry (Trademarks Registration Section) shall, within (15) days of the receipt of the objection, be obligated to furnish the applicant for the registration of trademark against whom the objection has been raised with a copy thereof.
3. Where the applicant for registration did not withdraw his/her application within (30) days of being notified of the objection by the Central Business Registry (Trademarks Registration Section), the person objecting may, within (60) days, lodge complaint with the relevant commercial court. The registration process shall be suspended during this period.
4. Where the objecting person fails to have recourse to the court within the time prescribed under paragraph (3) of this Article, or did not pursue his/her application, in such a case the trademark shall be registered in the name of the person who has applied for registration and the person objecting shall not be eligible for reimbursement of any paid registration fee.

Manner of Objection on Transfer and Alteration of Trademark:

Article 27:

In case where the objection is made regarding registration of trademark transfer or registration of trademark alteration or regarding registration of changes in manufactures or products to which the trademark is given for identification and recognition purposes, the provisions set forth for objections shall be applicable.

Court Decision

Article 28:

1. The relevant commercial court shall, while hearing the application of the parties to the dispute, take decision concerning admission or rejection of the registration in view of the reasons being provided.
2. The final decision of the court shall be published in an official newspaper the cost of which shall be borne by the prevailing party. The prevailing party may request such costs as remedy of losses from the losing party.

Use of the Trademark

Article 29:

Where the objecting person proves that the trademark being objected to, has been continuously used by him/her, in such a case the commercial court shall issue order concerning registration of the trademark in his/her name. Where the trademark has already been registered in the name of the person applying for registration, its registered name shall be omitted and the commercial court shall issue order concerning registration of the trademark in the name of the objecting person.

Time Limits for on Filing an Objection

Article 30:

1. The time limit for initiating an objection against a registered mark shall be two years from the date of publication.
2. In the case of a well-known mark, the time limit for initiating an objection against a registered mark shall be five years from the date of publication.
3. Persons who do not lodge an objection against the registration of a mark within the periods stated in the first and second paragraph of this article, shall waive their objection.
4. ~~There is no time limit for initiating an objection against a mark registered in bad faith. The period of limitations for hearing the proceeding related to registration of trademark shall be one year, and the claim of those who fail to object thereto within the said period following the registration date of the trademark shall not be accepted for hearing.~~
