

THE EXCISE TAX LAW

I. GENERAL PROVISIONS

Article 1

- (1) This law regulates the excise tax system and introduces the requirement to pay excise tax on excise goods as defined by this law (hereinafter: excise goods), which are put into free circulation on the territory of the Republic of Montenegro.
- (2) The excise goods referred to in paragraph 1 of this Article are:
- 1) Alcohol and alcohol beverages,
 - 2) tobacco products and
 - 3) mineral oils, mineral oil derivatives and their substitutes.

Article 2

- (1) Excise tax is payable for excise goods produced on the territory of the Republic of Montenegro and excise goods imported into Montenegro.
- (2) The import of excise goods shall be considered any and every instance of bringing excise goods into Montenegro, unless otherwise specified by this law.

Article 3

Excise tax revenues belong to the Budget of the Republic of Montenegro.

Interpretation – definition of certain terms

Article 4

Certain terms used by this law shall have the following meaning:

- (1) An excise taxpayer is a producer or importer of excise goods, or person to which the excise tax requirement may be transferred under this law.
- (2) An excise licensee is a natural or legal person to which a tax authority may issue an excise license to engage in the following, in the performance of his/her activities in an excise goods warehouse: produce, finish, process, refine (hereinafter: produce), store, receive and dispatch excise goods under a deferred excise tax payment regime.

(3) An excise license is a document issued by a tax authority to a legal or natural person allowing such person, in performing his/her activities in an excise goods warehouse, to engage in the following: produce, store, receive or dispatch excise goods under a deferred excise tax payment regime.

(4) An excise goods warehouse is one or several connected, enclosed areas or facilities that constitute a technological whole, in which an excise licensee produces, stores, receives or dispatches goods under a deferred excise tax payment regime and which must bear clearly visible markings and be physically separate from the other areas or facilities.

(5) A deferred excise payment regime is an institute related to production, storage and movement of excise goods, on the basis of which the obligation to pay an excise tax is postponed.

(6) An exempt excise goods beneficiary is a natural or legal person to which a tax authority may, under conditions defined by this law, issue an excise license allowing such person to procure, in the performance of his/her activity, excise tax-free excise goods for purposes specified in Articles 44 and 54 of this law.

(7) An exempt excise goods beneficiary plant is an area, installation or equipment where excise goods are kept, which an exempt excise goods beneficiary procured excise tax free to carry out his/her activities.

(8) An excise goods importer is a customs debtor, defined under the customs regulations, or a foreign excise goods consignee.

II. ESTABLISHMENT OF AN EXCISE REQUIREMENT

Article 5

(1) An excise requirement is established when:

- 1) excise goods are produced in the Republic of Montenegro (hereinafter: Montenegro) and
- 2) excise goods are imported into Montenegro.

(2) An excise requirement may be transferred from the producer or importer to an excise licensee, or exempt excise goods beneficiary under terms and conditions established by this law.

III. DEFERRED EXCISE TAX PAYMENT REGIME

Deferred excise tax payment regime

Article 6

- (1) Excise tax payment may be deferred if:
 - 1) excise goods are produced or stored in an excise goods warehouse,
 - 2) excise goods are stored in an exempt excise goods beneficiary plant,
 - 3) excise goods are transported under the terms prescribed by this law.

- (2) Payment of the excise tax on imported excise goods may be deferred if, immediately upon the entry of such goods in Montenegro, their storage is allowed or the procedure for customs transit or storage in a bonded warehouse is initiated, if imported for export under the deferred excise tax payment regime, if such goods are processed under customs supervision or in the case of temporary importation, or if such goods enter a free zone.

- (3) In case the imported excise goods are put into circulation in accordance with customs regulations, payment of the excise tax may be deferred if such goods are placed in an excise goods warehouse or an exempt excise goods beneficiary plant directly after being released for use.

- (4) In case an excise license expires, excluding such cases as specified in paragraphs 6 and 7 of this article, payment of the excise tax on excise goods in stock may be deferred for a period of up to 30 days from the day of expiry of such license unless such excise goods were released for use prior to the expiry of the above term or were dispatched to another excise goods warehouse or an exempt excise goods beneficiary plant.

- (5) In case a license of an exempt excise goods beneficiary expires, excluding such cases as described in paragraphs 6 and 7 of this article, payment of the excise tax on such goods in stock or stored in an exempt excise goods beneficiary plant shall be deferred for a period of up to 30 days from the day of expiry of the license.

- (6) In case an excise goods warehouse or exempt excise goods beneficiary should cease to operate for reasons of liquidation or bankruptcy, payment of the excise tax shall be deferred until such excise goods are put into free circulation in a liquidation or bankruptcy proceeding, or as long as they are stored in such or other excise goods warehouse or exempt excise goods beneficiary plant, but no later than the day such goods are dispatched to the creditor under a decision on property division.

- (7) In case an excise license or license of an exempt excise goods beneficiary expires as a result of a merger, payment of the excise tax shall be deferred until the day the excise goods in stock are released for use under a merger procedure or until they are stored in another excise goods warehouse or exempt excise goods beneficiary plant, or until they are dispatched, but no longer than 60 days from the day of submission of an application to enter the merger in an authorized court register.

Transportation of excise goods under the deferred excise tax payment regime

Article 7

- (1) Excise goods may be transported under the deferred excise tax payment regime as follows:

- 1) from one excise goods warehouse to another excise goods warehouse, from an exempt excise goods beneficiary plant to an excise goods warehouse and upon import to an excise goods warehouse,
- 2) from an excise goods warehouse to an exempt excise goods beneficiary plant and upon import to an exempt excise goods beneficiary plant,
