If the economic gains obtained by the employer from the commercial exploitation of that invention rise above the reasonable expectations of gain that the employer had from his employee's inventive output at the time he hired him, the employee shall be entitled to an equitable remuneration.
- f) Where an invention is made by an employee outside an employment contract, but in making that invention the employee used materials, data or know-how of the employer, the right to the patent shall belong, in the absence of contractual provisions to the contrary, to the employer. The employee shall be entitled to an equitable remuneration equivalent to one third of the economic gains obtained by the employer from the commercial exploitation of the invention.
- g) Any invention claimed in a patent application filed by a former employee within one year following the expiry of his employment, where the invention falls within the scope of the former employer's main line of business, shall be presumed to have been made during the employment relationship, unless the employee produces evidence to the contrary.
- h) Any anticipated promise or undertaking by the inventor made to his employer to the effect that he will waive any remuneration he is entitled to under this section shall be without legal effect.

- i) The inventor shall be named as such in the patent, unless he indicates to the Director General in writing that he wishes not to be named. Any promise or undertaking by the inventor made to the effect that he will make such a declaration shall be without legal effect.

- d) The description shall disclose the invention in a manner sufficiently clear and complete for all the claimed embodiments of the invention to be carried out by a person having ordinary skill in the art in Liberia, and shall, in particular, indicate at least the best mode for carrying out the invention known to the inventor at the filing date or, where priority is claimed, at the priority date of the application.
- e) In the case of inventions related to biological material that cannot be described as required under subsection (d) of this Section, the applicant shall deposit a sample thereof, not later than the date of filing of the application, with a depositary institution recognized under the Budapest Treaty. After the publication of the application, any interested party shall have access to a sample of the deposited biological material, subject to the obligation by said party to use said sample for experimental purposes only.
- f) Where the claimed invention consists of or is directly derived from biological material or from traditional knowledge obtained from a particular community, the description shall indicate the source and the origin of that material or knowledge, as known to the applicant. The application shall also provide information, including evidence, of compliance with any applicable legal requirements in the supplying country regarding prior informed consent and sharing of benefits arising from the commercial or other utilization of such material and/or knowledge.
- g) The Director General may, at any time before the grant of the patent, require the description in a patent application to be amended to comply with the requirements of this section to ensure technology dissemination, provided that any amendment shall not result in the application disclosing matter extending beyond what was disclosed in the initial application.

- i) Claims shall be clear and concise. They shall be fully supported by the description. Subject to Section 13.5 of this Part, a main claim shall define all novel and essential features of the invention. All claims dependent on a main claim shall be subordinated to and narrower than that main claim.
- j) In the case of inventions relating to chemical products and processes, the description, claims and abstract shall include the relevant internationally recognized chemical denomination of the claimed products or of the products obtainable with the claimed process. - n) The applicant may withdraw the application at any time during its pendency.

§13.6. Unity of Invention; Amendment and Division of Application

- a) An application for a patent shall relate to one invention only or to a group of inventions so linked as to form a single general inventive concept.

- c) Each divisional application shall be entitled to the filing date and, where applicable, the priority date of the initial application.
- d) The fact that a patent has been granted on an application that did not comply with the requirement of unity of invention under subsection (a) shall not be a ground for the invalidation of the patent.
- e) The applicant may, up to the time when the application is in order for grant, amend the application, provided that the amendment shall not result in the application disclosing matter extending beyond what was disclosed in the initial application.

§13.7. Right of Priority

- a) The application may, in accordance with Article 4 of the Paris Convention, contain a declaration claiming the priority of one or earlier applications filed for the same invention by the applicant or his predecessor in title in or for any State party to the said Convention or any Member of the World Trade Organization. The period of priority shall be of twelve months and shall be computed in accordance with the provisions of Article 4 of the Paris Convention, that is from the date of filing of the first application, but shall exclude the day of filing in the six months period, and shall end on the last day of the period unless an official holiday or a day the Intellectual Property Office is not opened in which case the period shall be extended until the next working day.

- b) The effect of the claiming of priority shall be as provided in Article 4B of the Paris Convention. In particular, an application filed within the priority period shall not be refused or invalidated by reason of any acts occurring during that period, in particular, another filing or the publication or exploitation of the invention, and such acts shall not give rise to any third-party right or any right of personal possession.
- c) Where the application contains a declaration claiming priority the Director General may request the applicant to furnish, within the prescribed time limit which shall not be less than three months following the date of filing, a copy of the earlier application or applications, certified as correct by the foreign authority with which it was filed. The Director General may also request that the copy be accompanied by a certificate from that authority showing the date of filing, and by a translation into a prescribed language.
- d) If the Director General finds that the conditions for the right of priority or the requirements for claiming priority have not been fulfilled, the declaration claiming priority shall be considered not to have been made.

§13.8. Information Concerning Corresponding Foreign Applications for Patents

No change shall be allowed that would result in the patent containing subject matter that extends beyond the matter disclosed in the initial application or in an extension of the matter claimed in the patent.

§13.11. Rights Conferred by the Patent; Limitations and Exceptions

- a) A patent shall confer on its holder the right to prevent third parties from exploiting the patented invention in Liberia. The scope of the right conferred by the patent shall be defined by the claims.
- b) The rights under a patent may not be used to prevent:
 - i. acts in respect of a product covered by the patent after that product has been put on the market in Liberia or abroad by the holder of the patent, by a person acting with the holder's consent or having an economic tie to the holder, or by an otherwise authorized person. For the purposes of this provision, an economic tie shall exist between two persons where one of them may exercise on the other a decisive influence with respect to the exploitation of the patented invention, or where a third party may exercise such an influence on both persons;
 - ii. acts done for purposes of scientific research in academic, educational or research institutions;
 - iii. acts done for experimental purposes relating to the subject matter of the patented invention;

- iv. acts performed by any person to make, construct, use or sell the patented invention solely for uses reasonably related to the development and submission of information required under any law of Liberia or a country other than Liberia that regulates the manufacture, construction, use or sale of any product;
 - v. acts performed by any person who in good faith, before the filing or, where priority is claimed, the priority date of the application on which the patent is granted, was using the invention or had made effective and serious preparations for such use in Liberia (the “prior user”);
 - vi. acts done privately and for non-commercial purposes;
 - vii. the use by a farmer of the product of his harvest for propagation or multiplication by him on his own holding or for exchange with other farmers in the context of traditional or communal practices, where the plant material used by the farmer to produce the harvest was put on the market in accordance with subsection (b) (i) of this Section;
 - viii. the use of the invention in the body or gear of aircraft, land vehicles or vessels that temporarily or accidentally enter the jurisdiction of Liberia, or the importation of spare parts or accessories for the purpose of repairing such aircraft, vehicles or vessels;
 - ix. the extemporaneous preparation in a pharmacy of a medicine for an individual in accordance with a prescription, and to dealing with the medicines so prepared.
- c) The right of the prior user referred to in subsection (b) (v) of this Section may be transferred or devolve only together with the enterprise or business, or with that part of the enterprise or business, in which the use or preparations for use have been made.

§13.12. Duration; Annual Fees; Restoration

- a) Subject to subsection (b), a patent shall expire 20 years after the filing date of the patent application.
- b) In order to maintain the patent or the patent application, as the case may be, an annual fee as prescribed shall be paid in advance to the Liberia Intellectual Property Office for each year, starting one year after the filing date of the application for grant of the patent. A period of grace of six months shall be allowed for the late payment of the annual fee on payment of the prescribed surcharge. If an annual fee is not paid in accordance with this subsection, the patent application shall be deemed to have been withdrawn or the patent shall lapse, as the case may be.

§13.13. Compulsory Licenses (Other use without authorization of the right holder)

- a) The Director General or the court may grant, upon request, a compulsory license where:
- the public interest, in particular, national security or cases of national emergency or other circumstances of extreme urgency, including those involving nutrition or health, so requires; or
- i. a court or administrative body has determined that the manner of exploitation of the patented invention, by the holder of the patent or someone acting under his authorization or with his consent, is anti-competitive, and that the exploitation of the invention in accordance with this subsection would remedy such practice; or
 - ii. the holder of the patent is abusing his exclusive rights or neglecting to take measures to prevent someone acting under his authorization or with his consent from abusing the exclusive rights conferred by the patent; or
 - iii. after the expiration of a period of four years from the date of filing of the patent application or three years from the date of the grant of the patent, whichever period expires last, the patented invention is not exploited or is insufficiently exploited, by working the invention in Liberia. Notwithstanding this, a compulsory license shall not be issued if the owner of the patent demonstrates that legitimate reasons such as force majeure exist which justify the non-exploitation or insufficient exploitation of the patented invention in Liberia;
 - iv. a patent (the “second patent”) claiming an invention that involves an important technical advance of considerable economic significance in relation to an invention claimed in an earlier patent (the “first patent”) cannot be exploited without infringing the earlier patent; or
 - v. the patent owner has refused to grant a voluntary license to a third party on reasonable commercial terms and conditions.
- b) Each request for a compulsory license shall be considered on its individual merits. The decision shall be taken after hearing the holder of the patent if he wishes to be heard. Where the compulsory license is granted by the court, the Director General shall be notified with the decision.
- c) The exploitation of the patented invention shall be limited to the purpose and duration for which it was authorized and shall be subject to the payment to the said holder of an adequate remuneration in the circumstances of each case. Such remuneration shall take into account the economic value of the compulsory license and, where the decision has been taken under subsection (a) (ii) or (iii) of this Section this shall be taken into account in determining the amount of the remuneration.
- d) The government of Liberia may decide at any time the use of a patented invention for public non-commercial purposes through a government agency, a subcontractor or another third person designated by the respective Ministry or the court. The right holder shall be informed promptly of such use.

- e) Upon request of the holder of the patent, or of the Government agency or person licensed to exploit the patented invention, the court may, after hearing the parties, if either or both wish to be heard, vary the terms of the decision authorizing the exploitation of the patented invention to the extent that changed circumstances justify such variation.
- f) Upon the request of the holder of the patent, the Director General or the court may terminate the compulsory license if it is determined, after hearing the parties, if either or both wish to be heard, that the circumstances which led to the decision to grant the compulsory license have ceased to exist and are unlikely to recur. License where an adequate protection of the legitimate interests of the Government agency or third person designated to exploit the invention justifies the maintenance of the decision.
- g) A compulsory license may only be transferred with the enterprise or business of that person or with the part of the enterprise or business within which the patented invention is being exploited.
- h) A compulsory license shall be non-exclusive. Therefore, it shall not exclude:
 - i. the exploitation of the invention by the patent holder himself; and
 - ii. the conclusion of license contracts by the holder of the patent; and
 - iii. the exercise, by the holder of the patent, of his rights under Section 13.10 (a) of this Act to the extent that it does not interfere with the operation of the compulsory license.
- i) A request for a compulsory license shall be addressed to the Director General or to the court and accompanied by evidence that the holder of the patent has received, from the person seeking the compulsory license, a request for a contractual license, but that that person has been unable to obtain such a license on reasonable commercial terms and conditions and within ninety days from the request.
- j) Evidence concerning an attempt to obtain a voluntary license shall not be required in cases of national emergency or other circumstances of extreme urgency or in cases of public non-commercial use or when the license is granted to remedy a practice determined after judicial or administrative process to be anti-competitive; in such cases the holder of the patent shall be notified of the Director General's decision as soon as reasonably practicable.
- k) The exploitation of the invention under a compulsory license shall be predominantly for the supply of the market in Liberia except when the compulsory license concerns a patent claiming a pharmaceutical product or a process to obtain a pharmaceutical product, and the purpose of the license is to export the patented product or the product manufactured by the patented process to a foreign territory with no or insufficient manufacturing capacity, in accordance with the WTO Decision of 30 August, 2003 or Article 31 of the TRIPS Agreement, as appropriate, and the Annex thereto.
- l) A compulsory license in respect of an invention in the field of semi-conductor technology or layout designs of integrated circuits shall only be granted for public non-commercial use or where a judicial or administrative body has determined that the manner of exploitation of the patented invention, by the holder of the patent or someone acting under his authorization or with his consent, is anti-competitive and that the grant of the non-voluntary license would remedy such practice.

- m) Where a compulsory license is granted under subsection (a) (v) of this Section, the holder of the first patent shall be entitled to a cross-license on reasonable terms to use the invention claimed in the second patent; and the license on the first patent may not be assigned separately from the second patent.

§13.14. Invalidation; Surrender

- a) Patents shall be granted without any guarantee about the novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability of the invention.
- b) Any interested person may request the Director General or the court to invalidate a patent. Invalidation shall be decided on the evidence submitted by the parties.
- c) The Director General or the court shall invalidate the patent if Sections 13.1, 13.2, and Section 13.4, Subsections (h) thru (k) of this Act are not complied with.
- d) When the grounds for invalidation are established with respect to a main claim, any dependent claim may be deemed invalid if it does not comply with Section 13.4, Subsections (h) thru (j) of this Act. If a dependent claim is invalidated, the other claims may remain valid if they comply with Section 13.4, subsections (h) thru (j) of this Part.
- e) Any invalidated patent, or claim or part of a claim, shall be regarded as null and void from the date of the grant of the patent, and shall be deemed as if it had never been granted. Any limitation shall be deemed to have existed from the applicable filing date.
- f) Any dispute over the right to the patent under Section 13.3 of this Act shall be heard by the court. An interested person may request the court to transfer the granted patent to him or to invalidate the patent. In case the interested person claims co-inventor-ship, he may request the court to have his name added as co-inventor and, where applicable, as co-holder of the corresponding patent.
- g) The final decision of the court shall be notified to the Director General who shall instruct the Registrar to record it and publish a reference thereto as prescribed.
- h) A patent may be surrendered by its holder. The surrender may be limited to one or more claims.

- b) If two or more persons have made the same invention independently of each other, the person whose application has the earliest filing date or, if priority is claimed, the earliest priority date shall have the right to the layout-design, provided such application is not withdrawn, abandoned or rejected. To this effect, the Director General of the Liberia Intellectual Property Office shall take into account the matter claimed in the respective application.
- c) The right to a layout design may be assigned, and may be transferred by succession.
- d) Where an invention is made under an employment contract the purpose of which is to invent, the right to the layout design shall belong, in the absence of contractual provisions to the contrary, to the employer. Parties shall be allowed to be represented by independent legal counsel, and procedures shall not impose overly burdensome requirements concerning mandatory personal appearances. All parties to such procedures shall be duly entitled to substantiate their claims and to present all relevant evidence. The procedure shall provide a means to identify and protect confidential information, unless this would be contrary to existing constitutional requirements.

§16.2. Evidence

- a) The court may, where a party to proceedings before it has presented reasonably available evidence sufficient to support its claims and has specified evidence relevant to the substantiation of those claims which lies in the control of the opposing party, order that this evidence be produced by the opposing party, subject, in appropriate cases, to conditions which ensure the protection of confidential information.
- b) In cases in which a party to a proceeding voluntarily and without good reason refuses access to, or otherwise does not provide necessary information within a reasonable period, or significantly impedes a procedure relating to an enforcement action, the court may make preliminary and final determinations, affirmative or negative, on the basis of the information presented to it, including the complaint or the allegation presented by the party adversely affected by the denial of access to information, subject to providing the parties an opportunity to be heard on the allegations or evidence.

Members are not obliged to accord such authority in respect of protected subject matter acquired or ordered by a person prior to knowing or having reasonable grounds to know that dealing in such subject matter would entail the infringement of an intellectual property right.
- b) Notwithstanding the other provisions of this Section and provided that the provisions of Part VI specifically addressing use by the government, or by third parties authorized by a government, without the authorization of the right holder are complied with, Members may limit the remedies available against such use to payment of remuneration in accordance with subparagraph (h),

- b) In respect of goods bearing counterfeit marks or geographical indications, the simple removal of the mark or geographical indication unlawfully affixed shall not be sufficient, other than in exceptional cases, to permit release of the goods into the channels of commerce.
- c) The court shall also, wherever this is considered adequate, taking due account of the conditions set out in subsection (a), order that materials or implements the predominant use of which has been the creation of infringing goods be disposed of outside the channels of commerce without compensation of any sort in such a manner as to minimize the risks of further infringement.

§16.6. Information to Holder of the Right

The court shall order the infringer to inform the holder of the right of the identity of third persons involved in the production and distribution of the infringing goods or rendering of services and of their channels of distribution, where this would be in proportion to the seriousness of the infringement.

 - iii. any information necessary to identify the goods concerned by the authority that will execute the provisional measure.
- c) In exceptional circumstances where any delay is likely to cause irreparable harm to the holder of the right or where there is a demonstrable risk of evidence being destroyed, the court may order provisional measures without giving the other party an opportunity of being heard. In such case, the court shall give the parties affected notice of the decision at the latest after the execution of the measures.
- d) Where, provisional measures have been ordered under subsections (b) and (c), the defendant may file a request for review with the court within two weeks from the notification of the decision. - e) Where the applicant does not initiate court proceedings leading to a decision on the merits of the case within 20 working days or 31 calendar days, whichever is longer, from the notification of the decision ordering provisional measures or within any other reasonable period determined by the court in the decision, the court shall revoke the provisional measures upon the request of the defendant.
- f) In granting a provisional measure in accordance with this section, the court shall request the alleged infringer to lodge a guarantee to be able to continue in the use of the invention, in order to ensure the compensation of the right holder in the case that an infringement is finally determined.
- g) Where the provisional measures are revoked or where the court decides on the merits of the case that there has been no infringement or threat of an infringement, the court shall order the applicant, upon the request of the defendant, to provide the defendant appropriate compensation for any injury caused by the execution of the provisional measures.
