

Jim Cafone is Vice President, Network Design & Performance, Pfizer Global Supply (PGS). In this role, Jim is responsible for business development, supply network design, Pfizer's production system, performance reporting, analytics, and decision science for worldwide supply. He is also responsible for the global manufacturing network design for the BioNTech/Pfizer COVID-19 vaccine.

Jim has worked at Ford Motor Company, PricewaterhouseCoopers, Wyeth Pharmaceuticals, and Pfizer. Throughout his career, he has held senior positions within the manufacturing, supply chain planning, customer order management, physical distribution, customs compliance, integrated business planning, information technology, corporate and supply chain strategy, and business development. Jim holds a B.S. in Industrial Engineering, and an M.S. in Mechanical Engineering, from the University of Rhode Island. He also holds an M.S. in Technology Management from the University of Pennsylvania, College of Engineering and the Wharton Business School.

