Addendum

1. Following the decisions of the CONTRACTING PARTIES at their Fortieth and Forty-first Sessions (BISD 31S/222 and 32S/92-93), contracting parties should make complete notifications of their quantitative restrictions every two years and notify details of changes therein as and when they occur.

2. The report of the Technical Group, adopted by the Council at its meeting of 10 May 1989 (C/M/232, page 5), "recommended that the secretariat:

(i) publish as and when necessary, a list of notifications received and incorporated in the data base;

(ii) not issue further compilations of notifications in the NTM/W/6/- documentation, but make available to contracting parties, as and when requested, on paper or computer tape, detailed extracts of the quantitative restrictions data base;

(iii) in accordance with the agreed procedures, up-date the analyses (NTM(TG)/W/5) for the next multilateral review" (L/6492, paragraph 22).

MALTA

The importation of handmade lace (HS Code 5804.30.10 and 5804.30.90), silver jewellery and other articles made of filigree (HS 7113.11.00 and 7114.11.00) and gold jewellery and other articles made of filigree (HS 7113.19.00 and 7114.19.00) is restricted in accordance with the First Schedule of Act No.IV of 1993 known as the Local Manufactures (Promotion)(Amendment) Act.

The following items are still subject to exclusive state-trading under the Bulk-Buying system: boneless beef; evaporated milk (410 g); sugar; crude soybean oil; hard and soft wheat; maize and barley. Plans are at hand to remove most of these items from state-trading during 1993.

Some agricultural products are subject to seasonal quantitative restrictions or total ban (as in the case of fresh milk, tomatoes, mushrooms and poultry, besides others) as implemented directly by the Department of Agriculture through the import licensing system.

All other quantitative restrictions, non-tariff barriers and measures having equivalent effect have been eliminated. In this respect, please refer to the following list showing tariff positions included in the previous notification which have now been completely liberalised.
