There is a State enterprise charged with ensuring that adequate stocks are maintained in case of war. Switzerland does not consider this as constituting State trading.

For bread wheat there is no quantitative restriction at the frontier, and import permits are granted provided only that those who receive them (commercial millers and wheat merchants) keep a certain permanent reserve of wheat of good marketable quality. At the same time commercial millers must take over, on the basis of the average cost price of foreign wheat, domestic wheat which has been purchased by the Confederation. The quota of domestic wheat which they are obliged to accept is laid down by the Wheat Administration as a percentage of the quantity of wheat handled by each mill. The authorities may exempt millers from this obligation if they are handling hard wheat or if they transform foreign wheat for export in the form of bread flour or other products.
