B. Non-tariff measures

Italy's consumption taxes

Fresh bananas Lit 525/kg (average ad valorem incidence: 1982: 98%; 1986: 68%)

Dried bananas Lit 1500/kg

(b) Quantitative restrictions

Six members of the European Communities maintain quantitative restrictions on fresh and dried bananas. Greece currently bans imports of bananas to stimulate its own production. Spain and Portugal apply global quotas to banana imports. In the United Kingdom, quantitative restrictions apply to bananas from the "dollar area", a measure essentially designed to protect the position of traditional commonwealth Caribbean suppliers, in particular Jamaica and such island producers as Dominica, Grenada, St. Lucia and St. Vincent. Imports from the dollar area take place under the monthly quotas fixed by the Government in consultation with importers and ACP suppliers on the basis of the forecasts of supplies from the ACP countries and the demand for bananas in the United Kingdom.

France operates a national organization of its market which reserves two-thirds of the market for the French overseas departments of Martinique and Guadeloupe and the remaining one-third for certain ACP countries, notably Cameroon, Côte d'Ivoire and Madagascar. In the event that sufficient supplies from these areas are not forthcoming, imports are made from other sources. The prices of bananas from the overseas departments and the ACP countries are fixed yearly according to grades.

In Italy quotas apply to imports of bananas from sources other than the EEC and the ACP countries. Annual import quotas amounted to 255,000 tonnes in 1980, 1981 and 1982, and 270,000 tonnes in 1983, 1984 and 1985. Somalia has traditionally enjoyed a position as a preferential supplier in the Italian market, but now provides a relatively minor portion of Italian imports.

Finland applies quantitative restrictions on imports of fresh bananas in cartons in the period June-December, the country's domestic fruit season.

Portugal will remove the quota restriction at the end of 1992 according to its accession agreement to the EEC.

6. Fruit Products

A. An overview of the tariff situation (see Table 5 for details)

Norway and Sweden provide developing countries duty-free treatment on all fruit products. In other markets imports of fruit products from developing countries are often dutiable.

Fruit products are classified in such international nomenclatures as the CCCN and the Harmonized System according to the mode of processing or products forms. Thus, duties on fruit products are generally maintained at significant levels to protect domestic fruit industries. To alleviate this tariff situation, some developed country markets have separately identified in their tariff schedules a group of tropical and/or exotic fruits and have provided them duty-free or lower tariff treatment either on an MFN basis or under GSP. However, as is shown in footnote 4 to Tables 4 and 5, the existing lists of tropical/exotic fruits are considerably different from one to the other. One possible way to eliminate or reduce duties on tropical fruit products would be to introduce a tariff sub-position covering tropical fruits under HS code numbers relating to different forms of fruit products.

B. Non-tariff measures

In the EEC, France maintains quantitative restrictions on fruit juices (HS 2009) and Italy on mixtures of fruit juices containing pineapple. Portugal's quantitative restrictions on HS 2007, 2008 and 2009 will be removed at the end of 1992 according to its accession agreement to the EEC.

Finland and Norway apply global quotas to other fruits juices (HS 2009.40, 80 and 90) and use discretionary licensing to restrict imports of tropical fruit products falling within the following HS code numbers. Finland - HS 0811.90, 2001.90 (except mango chutney), 2008.20, 2006.00, 2007.10 and 2007.99. Norway - HS 0811.90, 0812.90, 2001.90, 2006.00 (excluding ginger), 2007.99, 2008.92 and 99 (except pineapples, nuts and ginger in airtight containers).

New Zealand. Items which remain subject to non-automatic licensing are prepared or preserved fruit (HS 2008.92, 2008.99 and 2001.90). Frozen passion fruit and unsweetened passion fruit juice in bulk containers are accorded automatic licenses (global license on demand).
