Arrangements for Final Meeting

In document E/PC/T/255 it was stated that, at the Final Meeting of the Preparatory Committee, the Vice-Chairmen would sit to the right and left of M. Suetens, that is, on the rostrum, throughout the meeting. The Tariff Negotiations Working Party has now decided that, since a number of the Vice-Chairmen will be signing one or more of the documents, it will be more convenient if they sit there only until the act of signature begins. They will then descend to join other signatories who (with their senior advisers) will occupy the ten rows of seats in the middle of the Chamber. These seats will be allotted in alphabetical order, from left to right, two to each Delegation. Delegations will thus sit in the order in which they will sign the Final Act.

The two middle rows immediately behind and above the signatories will be reserved for the Press.

The rest of the Chamber (including the seats at the back and at the sides of the rostrum) will be for the use of Delegates and their guests, delegation staff, secretariat, personnel of the European Office, and members of the general public. If there is not enough room in the body of the Chamber, the gallery will also be opened.

Members of delegations and their staff will be expected to show their Security Block passes on entering the Chamber.

Members of the Press will be asked to show their usual passes.

Entry for all other persons will be by ticket. Tickets for delegates' guests will be issued by the Secretariat (Miss Schubeler, Room 206), and for all others by the European Office. Tickets for the general public will also be available at the ticket office at Door No. 6 which will be open for the occasion.
