How can ePing help?

Governments continuously introduce and revise health, safety, and quality regulations affecting international trade. Navigating these evolving regulatory developments and adapting to them can be a challenge.

This is where ePing can help. In line with the WTO SPS and TBT Agreements, governments notify upcoming changes to product requirements via ePing. By joining ePing, exporters, importers, and other stakeholders can keep track of these regulatory developments around the world in real time. They can then follow up with questions and feedback, often before new regulations enter into force, reducing trade obstacles and surprises at the border.

- Access information on notified regulations and related WTO discussions based on your specific search criteria.
- Sign up for email alerts on new regulations tailored to your products or markets of interest.
- Connect with your domestic Enquiry Points, who can respond to questions and relay your feedback to trading partners.
- Share relevant product requirements with your network.
- Have your voice heard in the regulatory development process.
